The Court has received a letter, dated September 15, 2014, in which the Floyd plaintiffs, joined by the Ligon plaintiffs, "request that the Court inform [them] if the intervention appeals and Rule 42 motion have been assigned to a panel other than the stay motions panel." In the alternative, "if these matters have been assigned to the stay motions panel," they ask that "the full Court rule on the pending request challenging the assignment of all matters in this litigation to the stay motions panel."

In accordance with the orders issued on October 31, 2013, and February 21, 2014, the captioned matters will be heard by the panel that determined the stay and related applications. In accordance with the order issued on November 25, 2013, all motions for en banc consideration remain in abeyance pending further order of the Court.
